Dear Sir Denham,

I received your letter this morning, & felt it necessary to reply at once

Will you kindly note that it will be quite impossible to publish your book by the 15th inst My men are all busy, some to-day, upon urgent work relating to the Cauvery Arbitration, & this has been promised by the 10th inst But even if this were not the case, a book such as you purpose issuing cannot be brought out with the speed of a newspaper You will require proofs & revises. Then there is the careful attention to printing & binding, made all the more difficult & slow by the reason of the illustrations which will have to be separately inserted Then, again, all my type is for the present locked up in the Cauvery Arbitration work referred to Under these circumstances I must inform the Dewan of the nature of your letter & of my inability to comply with your wishes

I am very sorry for this, but if I were to promise you the finished work by the 10th inst, I should be misleading you. All I can do will be to give the work my very best attention - (& it will require much of my personal attention) - & let you have proofs at the earliest possible date.

As I said in my previous letter, I hope to be in Mysore on Saturday next.

Yours sincerely,

C R Yates

(1) Like myself you are anxious that my Report should be ready by the time of next meeting [You have very kindly allowed me to take 10 days leave of the hours I have not yet availed myself owing to the understaffing of the College but the arrangements are now being made, & I am beginning to feel more easy. I have been working Day & night with the help of my daughters shorthand &

Typewriting - I began to see my way towards the termination of the Labour question with the printers & consulted the Local Govt Press & the conclusion arrived at was that the work could be more expeditiously & efficiently carried out by Mr Yates in Bangalore I think he sees the urgency of the matter but a word from you would work wonders The value of my Report will be considerably diminished if it is not in the hands of the Committee at the next meeting on Nov 1st Wednesday Thursday are holidays but I would expedite matters considerably if I were in Bangalore to correct proofs & consult with Mr Yates on the spot I could stay over Friday & I think the Report would be ready in time I presume Government

Ly dear Sir,

I have received your note of yesterday's date in re the printing of your report It might perhaps be sufficient if the letterpress is ready by the 10th instant ~~The illustrations, &c., need not be hurried~~ as Mr Yates says he is very busy, I hope you are not particular if the illustrations are slightly delayed

You might arrange for your visit to Bangalore in the usual way by wiring, if necessary to the Inspector General of Education

My Dear Sir

I hope that by the time next week my Report on the Mysore University will be ready The pictures which are being inserted will prove a very necessary adjunct to the work & help to bring home to the readers the kind of University we have in view Four Hundred copies have been ordered, but Mr Yates is of opinion that the book should be on sale It is not for me to speak on the question, but

If you are of the same opinion as Mr Yates, the latter should be asked not to break up the type If the book is to be sold it should be priced at a moderate figure – certainly not more than a rupee [Of course if Mr Nanjundiah's view that we should not start a University right away but only issue Diplomas work simultaneously for the Madras degree, should prevail then 500 copies of my Report will suffice But if we cannot have the ideal University I think we should approximate to it as near as possible]
